

Controversial Topic - Attacking IRAQ

There is a lot of discussion in the press recently about the possibility of the United States attacking Iraq because the U.S. claims that Iraq sponsors terrorism.

Ask 3 people their opinions about this possibility:

Is there sufficient evidence that Iraq is sponsoring terrorism?

Should the U.S. try to overthrow Saddam Husein?

Should the U.S. act unilaterally, or is international support for the attack important?

What should the US do right now?

There is also controversy about how much the news media should be talking about attacking Iraq. Some say the US shouldn't be letting Saddam know what they are planning. Other's say that it is too important a decision and it must be debated in public. What do your interviewees think?

Saddam Hussein has recently said he will let UN weapon's inspectors back in the country. Ask your interviewee if weapon's inspectors should be sent back? Why or why not?
